

As part of a national effort ahead of the White House Conference on Hunger, Nutrition, and Health, HFO is hosting a virtual listening session on Wednesday, July 6, at 10:30 A.M. It is crucial that Oklahomans' unique voices and experiences are heard as a part of this important conversation. As a refresher, in my testimony to the Congressional Rules Committee last year we called for this conference to be held. Earlier this year it was announced that funding had been allocated as part of the reconciliation package. This is our opportunity to make sure that Oklahomans unique experiences, challenges, and successes in the areas of hunger, nutrition, and health are heard. There is a link at the bottom of this email to give you more information on the White House Conference.

During the listening session, we plan to ask for your perspective on questions like:

- How has food insecurity impacted you, your family, or your community?
- What actions should the Federal government take to address food insecurity?
- What actions should state and local governments, private companies, and nonprofit and community groups take to address food insecurity?

If people are unable to attend, you may share your perspectives with us through this form through July 14.

Additionally, we are hosting the Hungry for Action Speaker Series that kicks off July 12 at 10:00 A.M. Register for the speaker series here.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Otherwise, I hope to see you on July 6!
